

Bad Vegan Support Group

Isn't it weird that vegans have more dating/marriage problems?

Wouldn't it be shocking if divorced/unlucky-in-love vegans all found one another via online chats and apps and created an online community/Bad Vegan Watch Party?

Netflix creates Bad Vegan Support Group Spaces

Twitter invites the most random people to join and interact on their latest update Twitter Spaces. But, through curated tagging, guest speakers, and discussion themes (how unhealthy relationships affected their diets/health, how food affects your relationships, how unhealthy relationships can make one jeopardize their morals, how to keep your wits about you when under the influence of a bad romance, etc.), Twitter's algorithm could work to bring every tweeting brokenhearted vegan to the same Twitter Space to meet Sarma Melngailis and learn enough of her story to want to learn the rest via her Netflix documentary.