

Special Edition Guardians of Play LEGO Minifigures

Special Edition Guardians of Play LEGO Minifigures

Long version:

The SRLT is a group of real life superheroes. And every superhero deserves an action figure. So celebrate your impact with a special edition of LEGO Minifigures we call the Guardians of Play. Each character represents a cause that our team is committed to serving and embodies the how we perform our roles to positively contribute to the welfare of that cause, from the many helping hands of DEI and Collaboration to the transformative power of healing a polluted environment in Climate Crisis. Because the minifigures are randomized, team members may receive characters that speak to their specific roles or they may receive characters that will teach them about the roles of other team members. Feel free to trade and learn or learn through play by modeling scenarios with minifigures. And don't forget about the coveted, rare surprise figure! Talk to your teammates to discover this mystery character and learn what they do!

Short version:

Let's recognize the SRLT's everyday heroism by designing LEGO Minifigures in their image: the Guardians of Play. Each character represents a cause that our team is committed to serving and embodies the how we perform our roles to positively contribute to the welfare of that cause. Minifigures are randomized and can be traded to learn about other causes and roles team members play. There is also a mystery minifigure that can only be discovered by connecting with your teammates to learn through play.
